Pizza, Pizza, I Love You

Pizza, Pizza,

I love you. And I hope you love me too. Crust and sauce and melty cheese have me begging on my knees. You're my favorite. You're so fine.

Won't you be my

Valentine

— Kenn Nesbitt

Concrete poetry—sometimes also called
'shape poetry'—is poetry whose visual appearance matches the topic of the poem. The words form shapes which illustrate the poem's subject as a picture, as well as through their literal meaning.

Write your own heart shaped poem for Valentine's Day.

Decide if you need to make your writing bigger or smaller in certain parts of the drawing, then erase your first draft and write out the poem again. You can keep doing this until you are happy.

Concrete Poetry does not have to rhyme!
