It's fun to be a football.
It's phenomenal to fly.
The feeling is fantastic as I spiral through the sky.

The quarterback releases me.
I rocket through the air and soar above the roaring cheers of everybody there.

The players leap to catch me.
Then they form a human shield to keep me from the other team and run me down the field.

They hold me close and rock me
like a baby as they run.
I'm glad that I'm a football.
As a football, life is fun.

It's honestly incredible except in one regard...
I really wish the players wouldn't kick me quite so hard.
